Positive Interventions

Advice and practical solutions on how to support behaviour of vulnerable students and those with SEND

This is a bespoke INSET offer to secondary and primary schools. Reigate Valley College (RVC) is a teaching school Pupil Referral Unit (PRU). The Executive Headteacher is a National Leader of Education (NLE) and RVC is a National Support School. RVC is in a federation with Wey Valley College (WVC) and The Fordway Centre, which are also PRUs and can offer support across Surrey.

The schools have many staff who are experts in behaviour management and we are delighted to offer schools advice on positive interventions.

If you have staff who are in need of behaviour management strategies either individually or as a group, then we are happy to come into your school and offer training.

This will be bespoke to meet the needs of your children. This offer may be for supporting an individual student, groups of students or all students, we work with the staff and not the student but often an observation of the student(s) is beneficial.

RVC, WVC and The Fordway Centre can also include as part of this training advice on the EHCP process, when to start, what evidence to collect and how to show the impact of the support you have offered.

We can offer this support to all phases of education and welcome designing a package that will support your school with all its behaviour needs.

Schools can decide to either buy in 1 off support or a package of ongoing support by buying in a number of hours, these hours can be shared between other school if you are part of a MAT or federation.
