De-Escalation of challenging behaviour
Tools for your behaviour toolkit

This is a bespoke INSET offer to secondary and primary schools. The session is aimed at sharing techniques to de-escalate challenging behaviour and will be delivered by Dave Euridge (National Leader of Education and Executive Headteacher of 3 of Surrey's PRUs) for Secondary staff and Ian Enwright (Head of all primary PRUs in Surrey) for Primary staff. They will look at how to recognise triggers and adapt practice to support students with challenging behaviour as well as offering "tools for your behaviour toolkit"

The session can be a one off 90-minute INSET which is generic or part of a wider offer where Dave and/or Ian will bring in a team to your school and trail a group of students to offer general and specific feedback to staff and/or SLT

Feedback from schools who have had Dave and his team in has been extremely positive

There are a few options available for this bespoke training offer, please indicate when registering an interest which you are interested in;

- 1 x 90-minute session on de-escalation techniques to all staff or selection of staff
- Full day student trail and bespoke 1 x 90-minute de-escalation techniques to all staff or selection of staff
- Full day student trail, feedback to SLT on behaviour policy and bespoke 1 x 90-minute de-escalation techniques to all staff or selection of staff

Date: On request

Time:

Option 1 = 90-minute de-escalation training

Option 2 = Full day student trail and follow up 90-minute de-escalation training

Option 3 = Full day student trail, feedback to SLT on behaviour policy and follow up 90-minute de-escalation training

Venue: Your School

Aimed at: Senior Leaders, Heads of Year, Heads of Department, classroom teachers, pastoral support staff, teaching assistants.

Phase: All

Costs:

Option 1 - £300 for non-members and £275 for SESTA Associate Members

Option 2 - £850 for non-members and £775 for SESTA Associate Members

Option 2 - £1000 for non-members and £900 for SESTA Associate Members